The Note from the Hon. Chairman

For the first time in the history of the Committee on Public Accounts, the comments on the responses that were obtained through an assessment which was supported by a computer network that was based on the accounts of the year 2015 covering 842 institutions, were submitted through the third report of the Committee on Public Accounts which was submitted to this august House on the date of thirteenth November 2017 in the First Session of the Eighth Parliament of Sri Lanka.

I, hereby submit the report of the committee along with the assessment programme which is linked with a computer network system that is operated under the supervision of all respective CAO's and AO's and with the supervision and the certification of the Auditor General and his staff, covering all the institutions that should be scrutinized pertaining to the year 2016 accounts together with the observations and recommendations.

By the report I submitted to this august House pertaining to the assessment year 2015, it was informed that following program is expected to be implemented with the purpose of strengthening the computer network assessment programme.

- i. Introducing a proper criterion by the Ministry of Public Administration and Management in order to improve the general standards of the public service.

- ii. Introducing and implementing aforesaid criterion, enabling the assessment of the progress of the special public services that should be provided by the district administration, for instance : grants of Swarnabhoomi deeds, land reconciliation etc.

- iii. Introducing and evaluating a suitable criterion to assess the standards of the priority services that should be provided by the Local Government Authorities.

- iv. Obtaining reports from a committee of officials, comprising the officials representing Presidential Secretariat, Ministry of finance, Ministry of Public Administration, Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Provincial Councils and Local Government and Auditor Generals Department, in order to devise a methodology which can be used in general, for all the public institutions in stipulating annual targets on the basic tasks of the public institutions and to assess their performance,

As the Committee on Public Accounts presumed, a committee was appointed followed by an initial discussion which was conducted on my direction with the participation of the secretaries heading the respective institutions and upon the extensive discussions with the suitable officials of the respective institutions and the studies that were conducted by aforesaid committee, consensus were agreed upon on the public finance regulations of each institution and fresh areas permitting an assessment on the compliance of the targets of the basic performance were identified.

Accordingly, the Ministry of finance, the Ministry of Public Administration, the Ministry of Home Affairs and the Ministry of Provincial Councils and Local Government took measures to issue circulars in the month of January of this year directing the actions that should be taken by the respective institutions, in respect of the year 2018 in terms of the new performance criterion.

It is with great pleasure I inform that, as proposed by the previous report, necessary arrangements could be made towards strengthening the criterion that was applied in respect of all the institutions which were supervised by the Committee on Public Accounts and the amendments and the improvements on the questionnaires for year 2017 and 2018 are being finalized by this time.

Plans of the Committee on Public Accounts

- a. While maintaining without change the method of evaluation carried out with the web-based computer programme that has already been implemented by the Committee on Public Accounts covering all public institutes, making the results of that evaluation a part of the annual report, which is reported as a certification of the adoption given in relation to the annual accounts of their institutes.

Through this every public institute through their annual reports should make a certification on the provisions and adoptions with regard to public finance provisions and performance within their institutes together with the certification of their accounts, and in case of any inconsistency, acceptable reasons should be given for that. (A similar method of certification is in effect with regard to public companies in the private sector.)

- b. Planning and implementing / encouraging the introduction of an evaluation programme so that the services provided by the sub-institutions associated with the public institutes that are directly involved in providing services to the public can be made subject to a general evaluation.

Through this programme, it is expected to bring into effect or establish a system of evaluation that is carried out annually and continuously to measure the achievement of performance targets and services that are specially identified by regional level institutes such as divisional secretariats, general hospitals and district hospitals, Divisional Agrarian Services Centres, and Agricultural Centres, that do not individually submit performance or other reports to Parliament, but are very important in providing services to the public.

- c. Directing the examinations carried out by the Committee on Public Accounts to a timely system which prioritizes matters that are up to date and are of national importance.

It is expected to take action paying particular attention to the current matters on selected subject areas so that the focus of this Committee can be drawn towards a more productive direction making the examination of public institutes as a whole through the establishment of the web-based computer programme that is being implemented at present on a strong foundation as a basis.

In order to be apt for this, it is expected to look into the possibility of obtaining the reports of the Auditor General as separate reports so that priorities can be given with regard to current matters and matters that require special attention, and also to take necessary action to amend the available provisions in case they need any amendment.

- d. Strengthening the examinations of the Committee on Public Accounts by providing computerized data and maintaining the tasks of keeping reports on a regular and timely basis.

Initial steps have been taken to make necessary arrangements to formulate a methodology in which the examinations of this Committee are carried out using modern technology that is developed based on computerized data networks and the information related to those examinations are filed in an organized manner, and to maintain keeping of reports on a scientific basis that is kept updated.

Using this program, MPs who are members of this Committee can have access through their computers to basic information related to the institutes that are subject to examination, observations of the Auditor General, those of the Treasury and other reports relating to those institutes. Members can also study the reports of the previous examinations related to these institutes, if any, and the progress of implementation of the directives that had been issued to them.

It is expected that this program will help to maintain on a timely basis the reports that are received by this Committee and the main parts of the reports issued by the Committee, and limit the printing and presenting of copies of documents and reports that are not essential. It is also expected that the Members will have the opportunity to get public representations directly and to participate in the examinations after doing sufficient study about the relevant matter.

Progressive features that were observed through the comparison of evaluation data of year 2016 with those of year 2015

The percentage of the overall performances of the institutes (831) that were subject to evaluation in 2015, which was 67%, had increased to 73.54% as per the evaluation results of year 2016; this shows a growth of 8.78%. Statutory institutes that are established under provincial council statutes and that had shown lower performance results according to the evaluation results of year 2015 have improved their performance by 18.9%, Pradeshiya Sabhas have improved their performance by 12.5%, government special spending units have improved their performance by 16%, and urban councils have improved their performance by 10.2%, which proves the effectiveness of this evaluation programme, and it is the view of this Committee that these tendencies are motivating factors in overcoming the future challenges of this programme.
