Progress and the Future Outlook

2.1 Introduction

The year 2025 marked an important turning point for Sri Lanka's economy. After experiencing the most severe economic crisis since independence, brought about by multiple internal and external shocks that placed extraordinary pressure on public finances, foreign reserves, and the livelihoods of the people, the economy has shown clear signs of stabilization and renewed resilience.

Through determined reform efforts and the continued support of development partners, particularly under the International Monetary Fund (IMF) supported Extended Fund Facility (EFF) programme, Sri Lanka's recovery has progressed more steadily and faster than initially expected.

The reform agenda, initiated in mid-2022 and anchored by the four-year IMF-EFF arrangement that commenced in mid-2023, has begun to deliver meaningful results. These reforms were aimed at correcting deep-rooted structural weaknesses, restoring macroeconomic stability, strengthening fiscal discipline, and placing public debt on a sustainable path. While Cyclone Ditwah posed challenges during the fourth quarter of 2025 and may have had a modest impact on economic activity, the overall direction of the economy has remained positive and forward-looking.

At the same time, significant headway was made in restructuring bilateral external debt under the Government's broader debt treatment strategy. As at 31 December 2025, 88.1% of Sri Lanka's bilateral debt had been successfully restructured where 93% has been restructured by end of February 2026. The Department of External Resources (ERD) remained closely engaged with official bilateral creditors and the appointed Debt Restructuring Advisors, maintaining open, transparent, and constructive dialogue throughout the process. In consultation with relevant Government Agencies, the progress achieved to date has contributed meaningfully to improving medium-term debt sustainability and supporting macroeconomic stabilization. Looking ahead, sustainable and climate-responsive financing will play an increasingly central role in Sri Lanka's external resource mobilization strategy. In this regard, the National Climate Finance Strategy of Sri Lanka (2025–2030) was formulated to translate priority climate financing solutions into practical action. The Strategy aims to mobilize and channel resources to bridge the climate financing gap, including support for projects aligned with carbon net-zero objectives and the Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) under the Paris Agreement.

As Sri Lanka moves forward, ERD will continue to consolidate the gains achieved in debt restructuring, deepen partnerships with development stakeholders, and mobilize innovative and sustainable financing solutions focusing on supporting a stable, inclusive, and resilient economic recovery.

2.2 Progress

2.2.1. Bilateral Debt Restructuring

By the end of 2025, the Government has made substantial progress in restructuring its bilateral external debt as part of the broader national debt treatment strategy. The Department of External Resources has remained actively engaged with official bilateral creditors and the appointed Debt Restructuring Advisors, working closely with them to restore debt sustainability while maintaining open, transparent, and constructive dialogue.

During 2025, coordination with creditor governments and their financial institutions was further strengthened. Discussions were carried out in line with the agreed parameters under the overall debt restructuring framework and in accordance with the comparability of treatment principles established with the Official Creditor Committee (OCC). As a result, several restructuring agreements were successfully concluded, while negotiations with the remaining creditors are progressing steadily toward finalization.

As at 31 December 2025, 88.1% of Sri Lanka's bilateral debt has been restructured. The agreements reached so far have made a meaningful contribution to improving the country's medium-term debt sustainability and supporting ongoing macroeconomic stabilization efforts. Engagement with the remaining bilateral partners will continue in 2026 to complete the process and further strengthen these gains.

2.2.2. Sustainable Financing

The National Climate Finance Strategy of Sri Lanka (2025-2030) was formulated to operationalize priority climate financing solutions identified based on their practicality, adaptability, and capacity to catalyze meaningful climate action in Sri Lanka. It is designed to mobilize and channel financial resources to bridge the climate-financing gap, including financing projects that directly contribute to the achievement of carbon net-zero objectives and the Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) under the Paris Agreement. Thereby, the Strategy advances national climate priorities and reaffirms Sri Lanka's commitment to fulfilling its international climate obligations.

By leveraging 12 climate financing instruments to crowd in private sector participation, the Strategy eases the fiscal burden on the Government and the resulting improvement in fiscal space can be redirected toward other critical development priorities, such as healthcare, education, and poverty alleviation. Development partners, including the International Finance Corporation, the Asian Development Bank, and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), have expressed interest in supporting the Government in operationalizing the priority solutions identified under the Strategy.

Implementation of the solutions in the Strategy will be undertaken progressively. In 2025, foundational work commenced on the establishment of the Green Revolving Fund (GRF), alongside the development of a concept note for a Disaster Risk Insurance mechanism. Establishment of the National Climate and Nature-Positive Investment Fund of Sri Lanka (CANOPI Fund) has been proposed to mobilize and deploy capital at scale.

2.2.3. Performance of Training and Capacity Building Programmes – 2025

The External Resources Department (ERD) demonstrated strong performance in 2025 in coordinating foreign-funded training programmes, reflecting sustained demand for capacity-building and effective institutional and sectoral alignment with national development priorities.

A total of 741 training programmes were coordinated during the year, comprising predominantly short-term opportunities alongside a limited number of long-term programmes. These programmes attracted 3,087 applications, resulting in 1,626 placements. While short-term programmes contributed significantly to overall participation, long-term programmes—especially those supported by Japan and Korea—represented a deeper investment in human capital development.

From a country perspective, China remained the largest partner in terms of programme volume and applicant demand, followed by India, with both countries collectively accounting for over 57% of total programme offerings, reflecting strong bilateral cooperation. China demonstrated an exceptionally high selection rate, while Korea and Japan maintained strong and consistent performance with high alignment between programme offerings and candidate profiles. Multilateral partners such as the Asian Development Bank (ADB) and regional initiatives including the Colombo Plan achieved near-full utilization of available training opportunities, underscoring effective coordination.

Sectoral distribution of programmes indicates a strategic focus on key development priorities. The Governance and Public Administration sector (107 programmes) recorded the highest allocation, followed by Social Protection (98 programmes), reflecting emphasis on institutional strengthening and social welfare systems. The Digital Economy and Mass Media (67 programmes) and Finance and Economic Management (67 programmes) sectors also showed significant engagement, while Agriculture and Rural Development (60 programmes) continued to support modernization of the primary sector and national food security objectives.

Sectoral partnerships reveal distinct comparative advantages among development partners. India emerged as the most versatile partner, leading in Governance, Digital Economy, and Social Protection. Japan demonstrated a strategic focus on Social Protection and Agriculture, while the ADB provided highly specialized support in the Finance sector, accounting for the majority of programmes in fiscal and economic management. China maintained a consistent presence across sectors, particularly in Governance and Social Protection.

Overall, ERD's performance in 2025 reflects effective programme management, strong stakeholder engagement, and a clear alignment between international training opportunities and Sri Lanka's development priorities.

2.2.4. Foreign Financing Commitments

From January 2025 to the end December 2025, the Government entered into 29 agreements with foreign development partners and lending agencies to mobilize foreign financing amounting to USD

1,780.87 million, of which USD 1,703.6 million was committed in the form of loans. Out of the total loans, USD 790 million and USD 681.6 million were borrowed from the Asian Development

Bank (ADB) and the International Monetary Funds (IMF), respectively.

5.2 Briefly explain the achievements and challenges of the Sustainable Development Goals

Development Partners annually commit foreign funds and it is recorded as total commitments. With the implementation of the relevant development projects by line Ministries these committed funds are disbursed for implementation of different projects in different sectors such as agriculture, irrigation, skills development, education, poverty alleviation, road, highways, urban development, health etc.

However, due to issues pertaining to project readiness such as environment clearance, land acquisition, utility shifting, relocation and resettlement, valuation and procurement etc., disbursement cannot be realized as planned.

As the first quarter of the 2025 was with the vote on account and the annual budget for the year was approved by the parliament in March 2025, achieved progress of the Capital Expenditure was around 76% of the allocated expenditure. This was affected to achieving the disbursement target of the year.

Human Resource Profile

6.1. Cadre Management

	Approved Cadre	Existing Cadre	Vacancies / (Excess)
Senior	41	28	13
Tertiary	03	02	01
Secondary	62	53	09
Primary	30	23	07

6.2. Briefly state how the shortage or excess in human resources has been affected to the performance of the institute.

Basically, ERD's job is to bring in financing from various international development groups, each with its own set of rules and requirements. This all needs to get the green light from important bodies like the Cabinet of Ministers, the Central Bank's Monetary Board, the Attorney General's office, and the President's office, among others. To do this job well, ERD needs people who are good at talking things out, know their languages, and really understand economics, public policy, public finance, stats, how to plan and set up projects, manage debt, and use computers. The folks who get trained are moved around annually, and they're supposed to fill the available spots. But it's tough finding people with the right skills and know-how among those who are just rotated in, and it takes the department about two years to get them up to speed. This really bogs down how well the department works overall.
