Hon. CHAIR'S NOTE

I am pleased to have the opportunity to present the 7th Report of the Parliamentary Committee on Public Petitions for the period from 01.09.2016 to 02.03.2020.

The Committee on Public Petitions has been established for the sake of people subjected to injustices at certain times due to certain functions of the government institutions as well as decisions taken by their officers, so that they could obtain relief by submitting their grievances directly to the legislature and the Committee has been rendering a huge service to the general public, especially those subjected to such injustices, by viewing their problems from a humane standpoint and coming to concensus with relevant officers and giving relief in terms of the powers vested in the Committee and the provisions available to the Committee.

I am pleased to inform that the Committee on Public Petitions has conducted 109 meetings and 1,197 investigations during the period relevant to this Report.

New provisions which are necessary to perform the functions of the Committee in a more fruitful and efficient manner and to run its functioning with high transparency were incorporated into Standing Orders of Parliament (which were approved by Parliament on 07.03.2018 and took effect on 15.04.2018).

I am pleased to mention that this 7th Report has been prepared according to a new format, so that all parties can obtain data and take necessary measures quite conveniently in accordance with the Standing Orders referred to above. As such, petitions were classified as those which were examined and recommendations were issued for, those regarding which relief was granted, those whose work has been concluded, petitions which have been postponed and petitions which have been concluded after making recommendations and the Report has been prepared so that Members of Parliament can obtain a clear and comprehensive understanding.

Although the Committee on Public Petitions examines the petitions referred to the Committee by Parliament looking humanely at the problems of people who submit petitions, it is important to abide by the legal framework prevailing in the country when giving relief to those problems. If recommendations are given in contravention of the existing legal framework, relevant officers will encounter a problematic situation in implementing the recommendations, while it may adversely affect the reputation of Parliament as well as that of the Committee. Therefore the Committee strives to examine in depth the facts presented by petitioners as well as relevant officers and come to an agreement with relevant officers regarding the maximum relief that can be given within the existing legal framework. As such, we all have to admit that not all the relief sought through the petitions can be granted.

The Committee makes common decisions from time to time in order to maintain the functions of the Committee in an orderly and an efficient manner as well as to minimize problematic situations, and those common decisions have been included in this Report for the information of Hon. Members of Parliament.

I wish to make this an opportunity to extend special thanks to the Hon. Sujeewa Senasinghe who functioned as the Chair of the Committee on Public Petitions from 01.09.2016 to 02.12.2019 during the Eighth Parliament and to those who acted in his post in his absence, namely:

Hon. Wajira Abeywardena

Hon. Susantha Punchinilame

Hon. Nihal Galappaththy

Hon. Bimal Rathnayake

Hon. Lakshman Ananda Wijemanne

Hon. (Mrs.) Rohini Kumari Wijerathna and

Hon. (Dr.) (Mrs.) Thusitha Wijemanna

for their contribution extended to the functioning of the Committee.

In addition, I would like to remember with gratitude those Members of Parliament who extended their support by contributing to the functions of the Committee.

Petitions presented to the Committee on Public Petitions in terms of Standing Orders can also be referred to the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) for examining. I take this opportunity to thank him and his staff for their support given to the Committee by examining the petitions thus referred to him in an efficient manner.

At the same time, as the present Chair, I thank the Secretaries to the Ministries, Heads of Government Departments, Corporations, Boards and other institutions, the Public Service Commission, the National Police Commission, the Director General of Pensions, the Director General of Establishments and the Director General of Combined Services for the support they have been extending to the Committee on Public Petitions.

Finally, my special thanks go to the Secretary General of Parliament, staff of the Office of the Committee on Public Petitions who work with utmost diligence and dedication towards the successful completion of the activities of the Committee, and the other staffs of the Parliament who contribute to the functions of the Committee in various ways.

I continue to expect the support of the Members of the Committee and the assistance of the Staff of Parliament towards the success of the functions of the Committee on Public Petitions.

Thank you.

Jagath Pushpakumara, M.P.
Hon. Chair, Committee on Public Petitions

1. Parliamentary Committee on Public Petitions

As decisions taken by officers at government institutions may be unfair and injust at times, the Parliamentary Committee on Public Petitions is one of the important forums to which people can submit their grievances in such instances.

The Committee functions parallel to or in addition to institutions which come to people's help such as:

i. Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman)
ii. Human Rights Commission of Sri Lanka
iii. Public Service Commission
iv. Administrative Appeals Tribunal.

2. Origin and Evolution of the Committee on Public Petitions

It can be surmised that certain measures had been available under the reforms proposed by Lord Colebrook who came here in 1833 and by Lord Donoughmoore and in the 1947 Solbury Constitution to deal with the grievances of people following the influence of the British Parliamentary system because the Standing Orders 27 to 30 of the Standing Orders of Parliament prepared in 1946 for smooth functioning of the business of the House of Parliament have provisions for Parliamentary Committee on Public Petitions. We can see such provisions even in the later amendments to Standing Orders as well. Although provisions had been available since then, it has been difficult to obtain information regarding how it functioned as there is no possibility of finding any files or sources in which it has been mentioned. Nevertheless, information recorded in the Hansard Report dated 12.11.1981 points to the fact that the Speaker of Parliament had functioned as its Chairman during the early stages.

Article 74 of the 1978 Constitution of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka has conferred the power on Parliament to formulate Standing Orders in order to conduct the business of Parliament in an orderly manner and to safeguard the discipline of Parliament during its meetings. As such, the Parliament of Sri Lanka improved upon the hitherto-existing Standing Orders and enacted the Standing Orders of Parliament of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka which took effect on 01.05.1979. However, the manner in which the Committee on Public Petitions should function has not been defined properly in the Standing Orders and therefore, the relevant Standing Orders were amended on 03.11.1981 so that the provisions would be sufficiently detailed. Then on, using those Standing Orders as well as rules periodically adopted by the Committee itself, the Committee on Public Petitions had performed its functions in a formal manner as a subcommittee under the Committee Office.

Later the number of petitions received by the Office concerned increased from year to year, and it became evident that extra officers were necessary for the Committee Office for secretarial work, follow up activities, sending of reminders, preparing files and folders etc. In addition, frequent seeking of information pertaining to petitions by Secretaries to Ministries, heads of departments and Members of Parliament who present petitions resulted in a heavy work load on the Office and as a result, the Committee proposed in 1990 that a separate office should be established for public petitions in order to process the heavy work load efficiently. With the advent of the decade of 2000, the number of petitions presented to Parliament increased and the need for a separate office for petitions has been reiterated in the year 2007 in a proposal.

After the approval of the Staff Advisory Committee of Parliament was received for this proposal, the Office of the Committee on Public Petitions was established on 22.10.2008 and it was possible to perform the functions of the Committee on Public Petitions in a more efficient manner.

3. Composition of the Committee on Public Petitions

The Committee on Public Petitions had been established under the Standing Orders which came into operation on 01.05.1979 with ten (10) Members of Parliament nominated by the Committee of Selection so that all political parties in Parliament are represented in the Committee. Under Standing Order which came into effect on 15.04.2018, the number of members of the Committee has been increased to fifteen (15) Members of Parliament.

The number of members of the Committee on Public Petitions was changed from time to time after 1981. As such, the names of the Members of Parliament who served as members of the Committee on Public Petitions during the period covered by this report are as follows:

4. Powers of the Committee on Public Petitions

As per Standing Order No. 30 of the Standing Orders of Parliament of Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka approved by Parliament on 07.03.2018 and in operation since 15.04.2018, after a Member of Parliament has presented a petition to Parliament, such petition is referred to the Committee on Public Petitions. The Committee then deals with it as per Standing Order No. 122.

Committee on Public Petitions has been conferred to summon persons, documents and reports have the power to summon any person before the Committee and to call any document, book, report or document in the charge or custody of such person to be presented to the Committee in terms of the Parliament Powers and Privileges Act No. 21 of 1953 and also have the power to obtain their evidence in terms of Section 12 of the Act. According to such provisions and in terms of Standing Order 122(9), the functions of the Committee on Public Petitions are conducted.

According to Standing Order 122(5), the Committee on Public Petitions shall report to Parliament from time to time its opinion on the steps to be taken together with other observations it deems appropriate to recommend regarding the petitions referred to the Committee.

The officers who absent themselves from meetings of the Committee and/or refuse to submit relevant documents to the Committee without giving reasons can be punished through Parliament or the Supreme Court under Schedule "B" to the aforesaid Act.

The Committee duly examines the petitions received by it and makes recommendations. The Committee functions in a pragmatic manner using the device of agreement of the relevant parties and the Committee often cites the provision that the subsequent refusal to act according to such agreement amounts to making false statement before Parliament and will tantamount to an offence punishable by Supreme Court in terms of Schedule "A" of the Parliament (Powers and Privileges) Act. In most instances, the Committee acts to lessen the severity of the administrative decisions and at all possible times tries to look at problems in a humane manner. The Committee makes an effort to give relief to petitioners on agreements reached between parties and performs the function of a mediator.

If the petitioners find it difficult to present their case by organising the facts properly, the Committee allows them to get the assistance of a protection officer and nevertheless, does not often encourage the accompaniment of a protection officer because of the unnecessary expenditure the petitioner may have to bear.

The procedure of holding examination by the Committee is flexible and despite the absence of specified timeframes regarding various stages of the inquiry, it is the intention of the Committee to examine the petitions expeditiously and give reasonable recommendations.

5. Presenting Petitions in Parliament by Hon. Members of Parliament

The procedure for this is given in Standing Order No. 30. Accordingly, the petition should address the Hon. Speaker of Parliament and should be conveyed through a Member of Parliament. Hereby, it is necessary for the Member of Parliament concerned to sign at the top of the petition. In addition, the petitioner should state the injustice or inequity caused to him very clearly and briefly and mention at the end of the petition the relief sought specifically. The petitioner/s should place their signature to the petition and in the case of a person/s who cannot write, their thumb impression/s should be placed in front of a witness. No other documents whatsoever including affidavits should be annexed to a petition. Schedule 1 contains a specimen petition and reasons for the rejection of a petition are given in schedule 2.

Petitions so received are subjected to scrutiny at the Office of the Committee on Public Petitions at the Parliamentary Secretariat and if the petitions comply with the relevant Standing Order/s, they are presented for the approval of the Hon. Speaker of Parliament through the Secretary General of Parliament. Petitions for which the approval of Hon. Speaker has been signified are presented in Parliament by the respective Members of Parliament who sponsor the petitions. Hon. Speaker refers the petitions presented in this manner to the Committee on Public Petitions for follow-up action.

The Committee on Public Petitions receive a large number of petitions every day and a considerable fraction of it is rejected on account of their being inconsistent with Standing Orders and due to decisions made by the Committee, from time to time.

6. Role of the Committee on Public Petitions

After a petition has been presented in Parliament according to the Standing Orders, the Committee has the discretion to examine it in one of the two ways:

(a) investigating it by the Committee itself and

(b) referring the petition to the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration, obtaining his determination and investigating such determinations.

(a) Investigation by the Committee Itself

The petition is sent to the relevant Secretary to the Ministry and a report is obtaind and then the extract of the report is sent to the petitioner for his/ her comments. Once such comments have been received, the petition is ready for examination and after fixing the date for the examination, a summoning letter is sent to the petitioner, Secretary to the Ministry concerned and to other relevant officials asking them to attend the meeting on the appointed day. It is the duty of the Secretary to the Ministry to make other officers concerned with the petition if any,with the relevant documents attend the meeting concerned on the appointed date, whereupon the Committee makes an effort to examine the petition and bring about a concensus between the two parties by inspecting the files and cross examining officers to get matters clarified, with a view to giving relief to the petitioner/s. Once such an agreement is reached, the Committee considers that it the responsibility of the Secretary to the Ministry to provide relief to the petitioner by implementing the agreement.

(b) Obtaining the Determinations of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman)

Parliament has enacted the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) Act No. 17 of 1981 in terms of Article 156 of the 1978 Constitution of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka which states that Parliament shall make provisions in the law to create the post of Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) to perform the function of inquiring into the complaints or allegations of violations of fundamental rights or other unfair acts or injustices purportedly committed by officials of the government, semi-government institutions, corporations, local authorities or other such institutions, examining whether such acts are in accordance with the provisions of law, and report.

Accordingly, His Excellency the President appoints the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) and some of the petitions received by the Parliament are referred to the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) in terms of Section 10 of the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) Act No. 17 of 1981. The petitions so referred to are examined and in terms of Section 17 of the Act concerned, the determinations thereto are sent to the Committee together with the facts on which such determinations are based upon. The determinations so received are re-examined by the Committee without summoning the parties and if the Committee agrees with the determinations, the Office of the Committee on Public Petitions sends letters to relevant parties regarding such determinations informing that the determinations concerned be implemented.

The Committee acts according to the manner stated in (a) above regarding petitions for which the Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration has not made a determination and also regarding those petitions for which a determination has been given but is decided by the Committee as warranting further investigation.

Ombudsmen have been working cooperatively regarding the petitions referred by the Committee on Public Petitions and the list of names who functioned in the post of Parliamentary Commissioner for Administration (Ombudsman) from 1981 to 03.02.2020 is given below:

Hon. Speaker

(Heading) (The title should briefly mention the solution expected for the injustice faced)

(Injustice faced)

Only the essential and important facts should be mentioned in respectful language enabling the relevant institute or ministry to easily learn about matters related to the incident, with dates, the incident and the person affected. It should not include irrelevant statements and any types of letters, documents or copies of them should not be attached.

(Expected solution)

The solution expected should be specifically mentioned.

(Signature of the Petitioner)……

Signature/ Thumb impression of the Petitioner (A person who cannot write should place his/her thumb impression before a witness)

Comment [U1]: Comment CB1: This note should be placed on top of the petition and signed by a currently serving MP. (Submitting the petition with a covering letter of the MP is not sufficient.)

Comment [U2]: Comment [CB2]: Ex:- Dissanayake Mudiyanselage Padma Bandara

Comment [U3]: Comment [CB3] : Ex:- 65/5, Piliyandala Road, Maharagama

Comment [U4]: Comment [CB4]: With regard to the relief requested from this petition, it is appropriate to mention the number of the petition submitted earlier.

Comment [U5]: Comment [CB5]: Reinstatement in my profession that was lost when I was on formally on leave.

Comment [U6]: Comment [CB6]: Ex:- I, Dissanayake Mudiyanselage Padm Bandara, after joining the Sri Lanka Police as an Amateur Sub-Police Constable (PC 147xx) on 01.01.2015 was serving at Maharagama Police and had to leave the workplace on 30.05.2019 after applying for two days leave as I fell severely ill while on duty. However, I had to receive residential treatment at the Kalubowila Hospital for 03 weeks since my illness worsened.
I had informed my work place in a telegram on 02.06.2019 that I had been hospitalized. However, from the letter dated 15.06.2019 an order of vacation of post (Mentioning failure to report to duty as the reason) had been issued with effect from 02.06.2019. The receipt of the telegram, copies of the medical records and other relevant documents can be produced whenever required.

Comment [U7]: Comment [CB7] Honorable Speaker, I respectfully request you to reinstate me in service after looking into the matter. (Instead of requesting to do justice or provide relief, the expected relief should be specifically mentioned as similar to the example given.)

Schedule 2

Grounds on which a petition may be rejected

If a matter of part (A) below is included in a petition as a shortcoming, it can be re-submitted, rectifying the aforesaid shortcoming.

Part "A"

(1) The fact that the petition has not been addressed to the Hon. Speaker.

(2) The fact that an incumbent Member of Parliament has not endorsed the petition with the statement "Hon. Speaker, I present this petition" at the top of the petition. (It shall not be sufficient to present the petition through a covering letter without the endorsement of the Member of Parliament on the petition)

(3) The fact that the content of the petition is not precise. (It shall be confined to two pages)

(4) The fact that the petition has not been concluded with a plea mentioning the relief sought.

(5) The fact that the petition has not been signed by the applicant or that the thumb impression of the applicant has not been placed on it.

(6) The fact that the original of the petition with the signature has not been sent. (The signature shall not be a photostat copy and it is unnecessary to send the copies of the petition and other attachments)

If at least one matter of part (B) below is included in a petition as a shortcoming, the petition will be rejected and cannot be resubmitted.

Part "B"

(1) Non-disclosure of any breach of fundamental rights or any injustice caused by an officer of a government or other similar institution.

(2) Petition seeking a change of a Cabinet decision.

(3) Petition seeking modification of a Court ruling.
