01. Summary

The 2018 Annual Report of the Homoeopathic Medical Council is thus released with the aim of evaluating the overall performance of this year in line with the objectives of the Medical Council and the laws and traditions in force.

The term of office of the Homoeopathic Intermediate Medical Council, the first Council established under the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016, was in force until 19.10.2018 and during this period the activities of the Medical Council were operated by this Council. Accounts of the Council were operated by the Accounts Division of the Indigenous Medical Division of the Ministry of Health, Nutrition and Indigenous Medicine.

Throughout the 10 months of this year in which the council was in force, it has been trying to get the laws, regulations and rules drafted to give effect to the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016 and referred to the Legal Draftsman's Department by the Ministry passed, and Several other drafts were prepared and submitted to the Ministry with the objective of building the Homoeopathic Medical System in Sri Lanka in a wide and stable manner. Accordingly, it can be stated that this Council has been working tirelessly till the end of its term of office to achieve the objectives envisaged by the establishment of the Homoeopathic Intermediate Medical Council in the formulation of the Homeopathy Act.

In addition to the 7 existing clinics to expand the Homoeopathic medical service island wide, several pioneering activities were completed during this year to start 7 new clinics in 7 districts. Although the approval for the posts required to start new clinics was obtained in 2016, the main obstacle for starting these clinics was the inability to obtain locations with government owned buildings. But this year 6 locations were identified and buildings were upgraded and equipment were purchased to start clinics in three locations out of them. The number of patients who got treatments by government Homoeopathic clinics in 8 districts of the country was 81,089 and that number was high compared to the last year. All six districts had shown this growth. While 16 seminars to raise social awareness on Homoeopathic medicine, 16 mobile clinics, 17 television programs and 17 radio programs were conducted, 44 articles for newspapers were provided by doctors under the guidance of the council.

The main function of the Homoeopathic Medical Council in developing human resources for the development of the homoeopathic medical system is to increase the number of qualified registered medical professionals.

By supporting this task, 8 graduate Homoeopathic doctors were registered and a Board of Examiners has been appointed for the examination to be held for the registration of doctors in terms of Section 30 (1) of the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016 and it has been assigned to the Examination Division of the Ministry of Health, Nutrition and Indigenous Medicine to carry out this task. Approval was also granted for the licenses which worth about Rs 33274.36 to physicians for the importation of Homoeopathic medicines.

02. Introduction

Homoeopathic Medicine may be introduced as a system of medicine founded on the natural phenomenon of "Like cures like". Christian Friedrich Samuel Hahnemann; a German scientist who lived in 18th Century introduced this system of medicine to the world. Today, arrangements are being made to bring the Homoeopathic's medical system which is being scientifically and technologically advanced to a powerful status in the public healthcare system. Accordingly, this has become evident by the fact that the government of India did not limit to the provision of Homoeopathic treatments to its public through its hospitals and Homoeopathic clinics spread all over the country by absorption of the system of Homeopathy Medicine into the National Health Service but they have established universities granting Homoeopathic medical degrees, homeopathy medicine factories and Homoeopathic research institutes.

The Homoeopathic Medical Council of Sri Lanka was established by the Homoeopathic Act No.07 of 1970 and it has been entrusted with the task of establishing and developing Homoeopathic medical system in Sri Lanka.

But, finally the medical council was collapsed in face of the legal and structural barriers arisen there. However, the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016 was passed by Parliament with the intention of overcoming these challenges. In terms of the section 51 of the Act, an interim medical council was established in 2016 as its original form of Homoeopathic council in order to fulfill the task of restoring the Homoeopathic Medical Council under section 2 of Part I in the new Act. The Homoeopathic interim medical council appointed by the Honorable Minister consists of 4 Homoeopathic doctors and six public officers. The Registrar of the Homoeopathic Medical Council is the Secretary of this council

Seven Homoeopathic clinics have been established in seven districts with the purpose of promoting Homoeopathic medical system as a public health service which comes under the role of Homoeopathic medical council in achieving its objects. These places are Dehiwala, Parakaduwa, Monaragala, Palamunai, Matale, Kurunegala and Tholangamuwa

03. Homoeopathic Medical Council

Vision

“Promotion of the Homoeopathic Medical System up to the level of National Health Services”

04. Background

Homoeopathic Medical Council is mainly a professional body. First council is nominated as the Homoeopathic Interim Medical Council in terms of the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016 and the members of the first Homoeopathic Medical Council are appointed as per the Homoeopathic Act by the Hon. Minister in charge of the subject. The frequent medical council is consisted with 11 members appointed by the Hon. Prime Minister; including three government officials appointed officially, five members elected among the medical professionals by a vote, and compulsorily two Homoeopathic doctors. While The Hon. Minister has been entrusted with the power to make rules in order to implement the policies and provisions of the Act, the power of formulating the regulations in relation to the prescribed fields in accordance with the Act is vested on the Council.

Rules and Regulations

Any orders which were effective on the date of the commencement of the new Homoeopathic Act No.10 of 2016 are deemed as the regulations made in accordance with this Act, until such regulations are made under this Act. Since the arrangements are being made at present in order to prepare the regulations under the new Act, the existing regulations which were effective under the Homoeopathic Act No. 07 of 1970 are still in force.

Establishment of the Homoeopathic Medical Council

The first homoeopathic medical council in the country was appointed by the Hon. Minister in charge of the subject in 1979, in accordance with the Homoeopathic Act No. 07 of 1970. Although the Medical Council should be appointed every five years by the vote of the Medical Professionals (except the First Medical Council), the Medical Council has not been continuously appointed. Subsequent to 1979, the second Medical Council and the third medical council were appointed respectively in year 1998 and 2006, the Minister in charge of the portfolio dissolved the third medical council in year 2009 before the end of its term of office and appointed a new council for next two years.

Its term of office expired on 30th January 2011. Homoeopathic interim committee was appointed by the Hon. Minister or the Secretary of the Ministry on the approval of the Cabinet of Ministers in order to carry out the activities of the medical council until a new act was brought in to eliminating the shortcomings of the homoeopathic Act which was in force at that time. From June 16, 2011 to July 29, 2016 until the new homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016 was introduced, the activities of the homoeopathic medical council were operated by an interim committee. There were 05 interim committees appointed as such. During this period, the homoeopathic interim committee could receive the support from the technical committee of the homoeopathic medical practitioners.

04. Establishment of new Government Homoeopathic Clinics.

A great effort was made during this year to meet the basic requirements for the establishment of 07 new clinics with a view to further expanding the Public Health Service in the country.

Although posts have been approved to establish new clinics, the main obstacle to starting these clinics was the lack of government facilities and buildings.

4.1 Obtaining locations for new homoeopathic clinics and building improvements

As a response to the various requests made for the government officials and political authorities by the Secretary to the Ministry of Health, Nutrition and Indigenous Medicine, Chairman of the Homoeopathic Intermediate Medical Council and the Office of the Medical Council, it was possible to obtain locations in 7 districts to start 7 clinics' Those are as follows.

4.3. Recruitment of Office Assistants (labourers) for New Clinics.

Applications were called for 07 new Homoeopathic Clinics to be started by publishing advertisements in the Divisional Secretariats to which such clinics belong. Twenty Six candidates had submitted their applications. Seven candidates were selected from the interview conducted in order to recruit for the post.

05. Enforcement of the new Homoeopathic Act.

The main problem faced in the implementation of the old Homoeopathic Act No. 07 of 1970 was the Failure to compile adequate regulations. Realizing this fact in depth, the Homoeopathic interim Medical Council, the first body appointed under the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016, focused more attention on the formulation of regulations for the enactment of the new Act during its two year term. In year 2017, the required regulations were drafted and submitted to the Ministry. This year, the Ministry and the Legal Draftsman's Department were able to make the necessary amendments and submit them to the Attorney General's Department.

06. Registration of Homeopathic Physicians.

Nine homoeopathic doctors who had obtained scholarships in India under the guidance of the then Ministry of Indigenous Medicine and had obtained a degree in Homoeopathic Medicine had applied for registration in the General Register of the Medical Council. The Interim Medical Council took action to register Eight of them.

6.1. Registration of Homoeopathic Physicians in terms of Section 30 (1) of the Homoeopathic Act No. 10 of 2016.

According to the opportunity given in terms of this section of the new Act, to register as a Homoeopathic Medical Practitioner in the General Register of the Medical Council for those who have been engaged in homoeopathic medicine for more than 5 years and who have passed an examination conducted by the Medical Council, applications had been called from those who had qualified for the relevant examination. Relevant activities such as informing these candidates comprising 189 about syllabus and relevant notices, preparing examination rules and referring them to the Attorney General's Department, appointing an Examination Board and liaising with the Examinations Division of the Ministry to make the necessary arrangements to conduct the examination were able to complete during this year.

07. Importation of homeopathic medicines 2018.

During this year, the Homoeopathic Intermediate Medical Council approved the importation of drugs worth of 33274.36 US $ and Euro 932 per physician.

12. Audit Report

The term of office of the Homeopathic Intermediate Medical Council, the first Medical Council appointed under the Homeopathy Act No. 10 of 2016, ended on 19th October 2018 this year. Although According to the above Act, a new Medical Council should be appointed at the end of the term of office of the Council, due to legal and structural issues arising out of the activities of the previous Medical Councils, a new Medical Council could not be appointed until the end of the year. Due to the shortage of staff in the Medical Council, the accounts of the Council were handled by the Accounts Division of the Indigenous Medical Division in this year too. However, it should be noted that the new Act enabled the Council to complete most of the functions assigned to the Homeopathy Intermediate Medical Council by the end of its term. The final accounts prepared for this year are submitted herewith. But the most important thing to note here is that although the final accounts for this year has been prepared, the government audit has refused to audit the final accounts due to the absence of a council to approve them. However, the Auditor General has submitted a report on transactions under Section 12 of the National Audit Act No. 19 of 2018 for this year and it has been included in this report. However, the Auditor General has submitted a report on transactions in terms of the Section 12 of the National Audit Act No. 19 of 2018 for this year and it has been included in this report.
